By Charlie Pike, veteran paddler and water resources expert.
- ☐ This new guidebook describes lakes, calm streams, coastal waterways, and whitewater rivers for every taste. Representing the Sierra Nevada, the Central Valley, and rugged Redwood Valleys, Paddling Northern California describes the best paddling in California, including two dozen state parks. Responsible land management agencies reviewed each chapter. The introduction discusses water safety, minimal impact camping, Wild and Scenic Rivers, and the Marine Mammal Protection Act. Each chapter provides: an overview, details of the waterway's character, difficulty, and the best times to paddle; what to expect and how to prepare; and detailed access maps and routes. Appendixes list paddling organizations and information resources. (288 pages, photos, & charts).
